0$Translate

^ Originally I wrote this explanation in Finnish.

Then it was translated into English. This instruction belongs to the English net version.

^ With Google Chrome and its Translate icon, anyone can get a translation in the language they want.

The icon will be placed in the address bar of your Google browser and you can click on it whenever you need a translation. Or click on it again and on the 'English' button to undo the translation.

^ Google Translate is better than many other translate programs. However, it gives not a perfect translation. It is one way to start studying the most important Book of the time in which you are living.
